The information included in this CSMTA history builds on the 50th History of CSMTA compiled by Ruth McEwen. It was an invaluable source in this project. Portions in boldface are directly from her book, History of the Colorado State Music Teachers Association. She included Mildred Alenius, Donna Bogard, Virginia Rigg and herself as additional sources. Other sources included the Colorado State Music Teacher Newsletter, Notes and News, and CSMTA conference books. Beth Benson, former CSMTA Historian and Linda Sommer, current CSMTA Historian were the chairs of the 90th anniversary project. The history is updated annually on CSMTA's website by the CSMTA Historian.

Founding

The following record of activities of Colorado State Music Teachers Association covers the years from it's founding in 1920 through the conference of 2021.

Colorado State Music Teachers Association was founded in 1920 during a meeting of the Colorado Musical Society, in Wolcott School Auditorium in Denver. On February 21, 1921, the Association was incorporated under the laws of Colorado, with seventy-seven charter members. In 1950, Colorado State Music Teachers Association became affiliated with Music Teachers National Association, and in 1953 became a charter member of the Southwestern Division. One year later Colorado petitioned, because of geographical reasons, to be a member of the West Central Division, and was accepted.

The Historical Handbook, MTNA, 1876-1893, by Henry S. Perkins, stated "Colorado State Music Teachers Association was formed. The first meeting was held in Denver in 1887. President, Emil Winkler; Secretary, W. W. Packer. It died young."

Purpose

The original purpose of the organization was listed as to promote and advance music, the appreciation of music, and the study of music in Colorado. The preamble of our present bylaws states that CSMTA "promotes the growth and professional development of its members by providing programs that encourage and support teaching, performance, composition and research. CSMTA is organized exclusively for charitable, educational, and scientific purposes, including, for such purposes, the making of distributions to organizations that qualify as exempt organizations under Section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code or corresponding section of any future federal tax code. This Section 501 (c)(3) status was granted under the federal tax code in July 2000.

Leadership

On Colorado State Music Teachers Association's 50th Anniversary, the governing body of the organization was its Board of Directors. This body consisted of elected officers, two representatives at large, the immediate past president, chairmen of the standing committees, eight district chairmen, and representatives from fifteen local associations. In 1997 the Bylaws were amended in order to establish the two leadership bodies of the Executive Board and the Advisory Council. The Executive Board would consist of the elected officers and the immediate past president and the Advisory Council would be made up of the Executive Board, all Local Association Presidents or Representatives, all Chairs, MTNA and WCD chairs or officers. Reasons cited in the Notes and News for the proposed change were declining numbers attending board meetings and the lack of a quorum to conduct business.

Membership

Within Colorado State Music Teachers Association membership (in 1970) there were fifteen local associations, each with a president and programs. All members of groups were required to be members of Colorado State Music Teachers Association and Music Teachers National Association. Local associations could apply to Colorado State Music Teachers Association for grants to aid with student activities, projects that involved the community, or bringing in speakers, workshops or performers. These local associations were valuable to Colorado State Music Teachers Association membership with the frequency of the meetings, and closer colleague association. During the war years 1942-1945 when Colorado State Music Teachers became inactive it held meetings and gave continuity to an association's direction and in 1946 gave the breath of life to picking up the pieces.

Official Publications...Newsletters and the Notes and News

“The Colorado Music Teacher”

In early years this publication was a mimeographed newsletter format generally sent out quarterly. In 1973 the form was changed to a 5 ½ by 8 ½ size, becoming much more professional in character, including articles of interest to members. Members of Colorado State Music Teachers Association had a hard back notebook in which the “yearbook” and official publications were filed. In 1992 the official publication name was changed to Notes and News and returned to the larger size. The Notes and News was placed on the CSMTA website in 2008. Members were given the option to receive it online. In the summer of 2015 members were informed that starting in October 2015, the Notes and News would be posted on the CSMTA website only. Members who wanted a hard copy of the publication were instructed to fill out and submit an opt-in form.

Historical Highlights

- The Greater Colorado Piano Playing Contest was sponsored by Colorado State Music Teachers Association, the Colorado Federation of Music Clubs and the Rocky Mountain News. It was held March 30 through April 4, 1931 at the East Denver High School.
- It was proposed at the 1935 convention at the Brown Palace to regulate the standardization of teaching methods through an examination system. The proposal read as follows: “Applicants for membership will be required to submit to written and oral tests before a board of examiners unless they prove their qualifications by diploma from an accredited school of music or by outstanding achievements. If approved they will receive a certificate

- of endorsement from Colorado State Music Teachers and helped to establish themselves in their communities.”
- Joseph Iturbi and the musicians of the WPA music project presented concerts at the 1935 convention.
 - James Michner, Colorado State College social studies professor, was the 1938 convention keynote speaker. He stated: “More time should be put on the study of music in the schools because it relaxes the tension everyone seems to suffer these days.”
 - Four hundred members and non-members attended the 1949 convention. It was a joint convention with the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Storm Bull of the University of Colorado presented. The Greeley String Quartet comprised of Henry Ginsburg, Glennes Garlick, Blanche Ginsburg and Don Garlick performed.
 - State Certification began in 1964. In 1977 there were 144 CSMTA members certified under the program. MTNA began Direct National Certification on July 1, 1994. CSMTA discontinued state certification in 2000 and issued permanent state certificates to those holding state certification at that time.
 - CSMTA celebrated their 50th anniversary in 1969 and their 75th in 1996.
 - It was reported in a Jan. 21, 1968 newspaper that Colorado State Music Teachers Association had received a $1000 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Colorado Council on the Arts and Humanities. Along with an additional $1000 from CSMTA this grant was to provide three teacher training workshops for teachers in the less populous areas of Colorado. The first workshop was held at convention, the second in Greeley and the third in Sterling. The first two workshops were conducted by Margaret Sanders Ott of Washington and the third by Reginald Stewart.
 - In 1975, Colorado State Music Teachers Association was host for the Music Teachers National Association National Convention, held at the Denver Hilton, April 6 through the 10. Over three hundred CSMTA members attended this convention.

- On April 15, 1976, area groups of Colorado State Music Teachers Association gave recitals of American music to celebrate the Bicentennial Celebration. This project was officially endorsed by the Colorado Centennial-Bicentennial Commission.
- In 1982 two computers were purchased. One was used by the Treasurer and one by the Newsletter Editor.
- The CSMTA Board of Directors approved the adoption of a Professional Reading Enrichment Plan (PREP) that was initiated as a pilot program in 1983. The title eventually changed to Professional Reading Program. The CSMTA Board discontinued the program following the 2019 Conference due to falling numbers of members participating. The CSMTA Board encouraged the pilot program of Foothills MTA where members choose one book for their local association to read and expressed hope that other associations would follow suit.
- CSMTA membership reached seven hundred and twenty-eight in March 1990. Six hundred and eighty-nine members joined for the 2010-2011 year as of Sept. 2010.
- In 1991 Dee Renfrow was hired as CSMTA's first Executive Secretary during Jim Duncan, NCTM's presidential term. The title of this position was changed to Executive Director in 2009 and changed to Executive Assistant in 2013.
- Following a call for CSMTA logo designs, the current logo was introduced at the conference in June 1991. It was designed by David McKendry, a Denver graphic artist

- In July 2001 CSMTA had the most local associations approved for 501 c3 status of any state affiliate.

- CSMETA launched its first website, comusicteachers.org, in October 2001. It was updated in April 2007 and changed to comusicteachers.net. Patricia Kershaw, NCTM, served as the first website coordinator.
- “Technology Corner” a column by Patricia Kershaw, NCTM, first appeared in the Notes and News in October 2001.
- In 2005 CSMETA conducted a member survey. Some of the results were as follows: 62% of the respondents had a studio policy and or brochure, 81% described themselves as independent music teachers, 76% taught only piano, 22% taught piano and another instrument, only 1% taught only a single instrument other than piano and they were equally divided between teaching only individual lessons and individual lessons plus group lessons.
- MTNA held their 2008 national conference at the Denver Convention Center March 29 to April 2. There were 285 CSMETA members in attendance.
- From 1920 to 2019 Colorado State Music Teachers Association has held ninety-one conventions/ conferences. In 2001 the designation of conference replaced convention. A listing of locations, dates and artists is included in this document.
- Gary Ingle, Executive Director and CEO of Music Teachers National Association, was a special guest and speaker at our 90th Anniversary Conference in 2011.
- CSMETA signed an agreement with MusicLink to offer discounted registrations to state events in 2012. Jill Hanrahan, NCTM, became the CSMETA MusicLink Coordinator in March 2015.
- At the 2015 MTNA Conference in Las Vegas, CSMETA received a plaque for Membership Recruitment and Retention. This was in recognition of an increase in membership over the past year. The Executive Board minutes of April 2015 list the membership total at 716.
- Partnership Week started in 2015. The partnership donations go to the CSMETA Memorial fund which provides assistance to state and national competition winners, CSMETA teachers who are seeking professional development and certification projects approved by the CSMTA Executive Board.

- Twenty-six students participated in the first statewide Keystone Independent Theory Testing Service (KITS) event. It was held as part of the Rising Stars Festival on April 22, 2017 at the University Of Denver Lamont School Of Music.
- CSMTA established a grant to assist recent college graduates to attend the MTNA National Conference in September 2017.
- The Coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic in 2020 impacted CSMTA, state and local association festivals and the membership. The CSMTA Conference was cancelled in 2020 and the Executive Board meeting in the spring was held via Zoom.
- The Music Teachers National Association Conference was cancelled in 2020 due to the Coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic.
- In Sept. 2020 CSMTA Executive Board adopted the MTNA Diversity and Inclusion Policy and it added to the CSMTA Rules and Tools document.
- In April 2021 the Executive Board and Advisory Council met virtually due to Covid-19.
- The CSMTA 2021 Conference celebrated the Centennial of CSMTA. It was a combination of virtual sessions and in person sessions due to Covid-19 restrictions. There were 150 registrants, 28 presenters from 7 states and 35 live or recorded sessions. CU was allowed to loosen protocols for the opening concert and the masterclass. The centennial of CU's College of Music was also recognized.
- During the 2021 Conference MTNA President Karen CSMTA Thicksten addressed the conference via zoom to celebrate CSMTA'S Centennial and sent a plaque to commemorate it.
- At the 2023 General Membership Meeting at the CSMTA Conference, members voted to change the annual Conference to the month of October, beginning in 2024.

- In the 2023 General Membership Meeting at the CSMTA Conference, members voted to expand the CSMTA Executive Board with the new position of Vice President for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, aligning with MTNA's nation vision. Chee-Hwa Tan became the first CSMTA member to hold this position.
- CSMTA received the 2024 MTNA State Affiliate of the Year Award at the MTNA Conference in Atlanta, Georgia. President Andrew Cooperstock and 14 CSMTA members accepted the award.

Student Activities

While student performances have been included on every convention program, it was in 1931 that auditions became organized as the “Student Concert Project” with fall auditions and financial awards to winners. In 1955 this program was expanded into the Colorado State Music Teachers Association Student Auditions program. The purpose was to raise standards of student performance and musicianship and to promote higher levels of teaching.

In addition, Colorado State Music Teachers Association activities were handled by District Chairmen (eight in 1981) who were chiefly responsible for student auditions. In 1960 there were thirty-six District Chairmen who functioned as the Association’s geographical division leadership.

The Association encouraged native talents by sponsoring programs of original works. Earlier convention programs particularly stressed this area. Since 1973 there has been a Student Competition Contest. Projected plans included commissioning works for student level performance. Colorado State Music Teachers Association published Nova Notes, a magazine of student compositions quarterly with issues dated Fall 1991 to Fall 1996. Due to lack of support it was discontinued in 1997.

Achievement Day was introduced in the winter 1974 newsletter and the first students took part in the spring of 1974. Students could be entered in one of the twelve pre-college levels. Two levels of early beginners were also included. Students could participate in theory, technic, art and other performance areas. Members at that time could enter students by tape if there was no local association in their area. Mary Elizabeth Clark was instrumental in establishing this student activity open to all students. In 1980 more than 2,000 students took part. That total jumped to 3,000 in 1985. This activity continues to evolve today. The most recent addition was the Ensemble Certificate which began in 2008.

Music Teachers Association of Suburban Northwest turned their Concerto Competition over to CSMTA in 1990 and the first state run competition took place in 1991. MTA Suburban Northwest began this activity originally for their local association members and opened it up to all CSMTA members in 1978.

Student Performance Activity (SPA) was approved at the general membership meeting at the 1998 convention. SPA replaced district and state auditions. Its inaugural year was held at the 1999 convention. The two tracks for students to enter were Honors and Artists. Chamber Fest was added in 2005 to encourage student participation in chamber music ensembles. The first Chamber Fest was held in 2006. Students received ratings and evaluations in this event.

The CSMTA Executive Board approved replacing the Student Performance Activity (SPA) with the CSMTA Rising Star Festival in 2013. Its inaugural year was 2014. The two tracks of the activity were named Competitive Stars and Non-Competitive Stars. Chamber Fest became Competitive Ensemble as part of the festival.

Student Theory Activity (STA) was held for the first time in 2010. This activity was initiated to encourage and recognize music theory competency among students. In April of 2017 the Student Theory Activity was replaced by Keystone Independent Theory Service (KITS).

In September 2019 the Executive Board approved the following motion for use at student activities: Parents may discreetly use a camera without a flash, a video camera, or a phone to photograph or record only their own child or legal ward.

CSMTA STA KITS testing in 2020 was administered on an individual basis to 47 students due to the Coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic and the need for social distancing.

The CSMTA Concerto Competition was offered with evaluation and prizes awarded by jury members in 2020 due to the Coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic. There was no winners' concert.

The CSMTA Rising Stars festival was cancelled in 2020 due to the Coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic.

Due to Covid-19 the 2021 CSMTA Concerto Competition winners were recognized on CSMTA You Tube channel through a prerecorded video performance.

The Student Theory Activity (STA) was administered privately due to Covid-19 in 2021.

Rising Stars competition was held virtually in 2021 due to Covid-19.

Student activities, such as Rising Stars, return to being in-person events in 2022.
